UNITED STATES COURT OF INTERNATIONAL TRADE

Access to Court Proceedings as : it relates to Coronavirus (COVID-19)

ADMINISTRATIVE ORDER No. 20-1

The United States Court of International Trade is following recommended guidance regarding the coronavirus (COVID-19), and in accordance with this guidance to protect the well-being of the bar, public, judges, and court employees, courthouse access is temporarily restricted until further notice.

During this time, and upon approval of the assigned judge(s), parties are able to participate in, and members of the public may listen to, proceedings via teleconference.

Access for the public may be precluded or limited when confidential information will be presented in the proceeding.

The Office of the Clerk will provide information on how to access these proceedings on the Court's website at: www.cit.uscourts.gov .

Per USCIT Rule 77(d), the use of devices to record or broadcast these proceedings is prohibited.

For the Court:
